

The a new play with music for young children and their families GARDENER

by Mike Kenny

'I was going to tell you about Uncle Harry.'

The GARDENER

a new play with music for young children and their families

'Banging out of the house
Banging the door
My granny's house
In the garden
In a grump
Nobody notices.
Nobody listens.
Except Uncle Harry'

Mike Kenny's plays for young children are performed around the world. He has won many awards including the 2000 Arts Council of England Childrens' Writer award

Joe's story unfolds to a live musical score from Nigel Waterhouse.

The Gardener is directed by Rosamunde Hutt. Rosamunde is the Artistic Director of Theatre Centre - the leading new writing company for young people. The Designer is Jane Linz Roberts.

ajtc is based in the South East region. This small-scale theatre company, formed by actors Mick Jasper and Iain Armstrong in 1997, has earned a national and international reputation for work that has toured to schools, community centres, theatres and arts centres throughout Britain and in Continental Europe.
